President of Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter- Pat Green

Happy New Year to all our members!

2026 will be my last year serving on the MOAA Surviving Spouse Advisory Council and as President of the Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter. It has been a privilege to be involved in these organizations for the past six years.

Others on your Board will also be timed out. Consider this a call of recruitment. Please examine your schedules and hearts. If you have the time, energy, or calling, submit your application for a position on the SSAC. You will need a biography, a list of your accomplishments, and some letters of recommendation. The application will soon be available on the MOAA website. More on this later.

As you know, our Bylaws are being updated. The adoption of the changes will soon be complete, and a new type of Associate membership has been created to include the participation of spouses of MOAA members. This change is with the blessings of MOAA. The rationale is that spouses may become Survivors and need information on preparing to be one. They may also need caretaking information. The new membership category will not be able to vote on Chapter issues or hold Office. They will be invited to attend programs and meetings and learn from our presenters and discussions, and pass it on.

This year's program topics have been selected. They are: the future focus of MOAA, the legislative agenda for Advocacy in Action, Mental aging, Artificial Intelligence (pros vs cons and simple uses), and VA survivor changes.

The January meeting will feature a speaker to review the outcomes of Total Force +, the formal ratification of the restated Bylaws, a program of insight into using the new SSVC website and making it a useful tool for you, and a review of the past year. Please mark your calendar for Tuesday, January 20 at 1 pm Eastern time.

By the way, we have a great website, thanks to Micki Costello.

Surviving Spouse Corner: Making a VA Benefits Compensation Claim

By: Nora Durham

I have been a surviving spouse for 24 years. My husband, a 33-year veteran of the Marine Corps and a naval aviator, died in 2001 from heart disease. He was never a member of MOAA.

I became acquainted with MOAA in 2019 during a visit to Washington, D.C. It was a chance meeting during Advocacy in Action, at which time some in the group learned I was the widow of a Marine Corps officer. I was led to the registration booth and immediately became a MOAA member. I learned there are approximately 47,000 surviving spouse members of MOAA — representing about 12% of the association's members. I'm now a proud Life member.

This brief encounter started a journey for me to be as active as possible. I became my local chapter's surviving spouse liaison and then a member of the Surviving Spouse Advisory Council (SSAC).

Through my involvement with MOAA, I learned about VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation \(DIC\). As my husband served in Vietnam and was exposed to Agent Orange, it was determined his exposure subsequently caused the heart disease that contributed to his death. This qualified me to receive this benefit. With the help of a local veterans service officer (VSO) and the VA Office of Survivor Assistance, I will receive this tax-free monthly compensation for the rest of my life.

Suppose you are the surviving spouse, child, or parent of a servicemember who died in the line of duty, or the survivor of a veteran who died from a service-related injury or illness. In that case, you might be eligible to receive this tax-free monetary benefit. Visit the VA's website to learn more. For additional information and support, contact a local VSO if one is available in your community. Not all VSOs are as helpful as others, but I finally found mine.

To prepare for opening a VA claim for disability or other benefits compensation, applicants must possess the following documents:

- Military discharge (DD Form 214) — original or certified copy is best
- Other military service information (branch, dates of service, Reserve or National Guard service dates, etc.)
- Medical records (military and/or civilian) if available, and if applying for a service-connected disability, contact information for civilian medical providers who treated the veteran for military-related illnesses or injuries (i.e., doctors, specialists, hospitals, etc.)
- Bank deposit information (i.e., voided check) — the VA will automatically deposit into this account if benefits are awarded

Contact: mssvc02@gmail.com.

Department of Defense, Veterans Affairs Corner

VA Announces Major Reorganization of Its Health Care System

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has announced the largest reorganization of its health care system in more than 30 years. The stated goal is to simplify management, reduce bureaucracy, and improve decision-making across the system.

What's changing?

The Veterans Health Administration (VHA) will reduce its 18 regional networks (VISNs) to 5. These regions will report directly to VA leadership, removing layers of management. The VHA Chief Operating Officer position will be eliminated, and administrative offices will be realigned to improve efficiency and consistency nationwide.

Why the change?

VA leaders say the current structure is overly complex, with overlapping responsibilities that slow decisions and can affect care. This reorganization is intended to streamline leadership and allow clinicians and facilities to focus more on patient care.

Will this affect care or staffing?

The VA says there are no plans to close hospitals or clinics and no announced cuts to frontline health care staff. The focus is on reducing duplicative administrative roles, not clinical positions.

Community care updates

The VA is also restructuring how community care contracts are managed, with fewer regions and the possibility of broader national agreements. These changes are expected to roll out gradually.

What this means for surviving spouses:

- No immediate changes to eligibility, enrollment, or benefits
- Potential for more consistent care nationwide
- Community care coordination may evolve over time
- Continued advocacy and oversight remain important
- This is a long-term change, not an immediate disruption

Bottom line:

The VA says this reorganization is meant to create a simpler, more accountable health care system. Veterans and surviving spouses are encouraged to stay informed and raise concerns as changes are implemented. Source: Military Times / Military.com, December 17

Legislation

National Defense Authorization Act Signed into Law: President Trump Signs the FY 2026 National Defense Authorization Act.

What Passed and Why It Matters to the Military Community MOAA.org

Congress has enacted the Fiscal Year 2026 National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), setting defense policy priorities that affect active-duty servicemembers, Guard and Reserve forces, retirees, military families, and survivors.

SURVIVING SPOUSES & SURVIVORS While no major new survivor benefit programs were created, the NDAA preserves authorization for survivor support services, family readiness programs, and health care access. These provisions help ensure continuity of care and support for surviving spouses and dependents.

Clarification on Pay Raises and Survivor Benefits: The military pay raise authorized in the FY2026 NDAA applies only to active-duty, Guard, and Reserve servicemembers. The NDAA does not provide direct pay increases for military retirees or surviving spouses. Instead, retirees and Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) recipients receive annual Cost-of-Living Adjustments (COLAs) based on inflation and applied separately from NDAA pay raises.

RETIREE & HEALTH CARE ACCESS The NDAA improves access to care by expanding TRICARE specialty care travel benefits and preserving protections against staffing reductions at military treatment facilities, benefiting retirees, survivors, and families alike.

PAY & FORCE READINESS The NDAA authorizes a 3.8% military pay raise for active-duty, Guard, and Reserve members, supporting recruitment, retention, and readiness across the force.

FAMILIES & QUALITY OF LIFE The bill extends key family support programs, including expanded child care options, continued DoD Impact Aid for schools serving military-connected children, and strengthened oversight of child safety at military child development centers.

TRANSITION & SPOUSE SUPPORT A spouse transition assistance pilot program allows military spouses to access employment and career counseling before a servicemember separates or retires, recognizing the economic impact of military service on spouses.

MOAA ADVOCACY WATCH The Major Richard Star Act, which would eliminate the offset between VA disability compensation and military retired pay for certain combat-injured retirees, was not included in the FY2026 NDAA. It remains stand-alone legislation, and advocacy efforts continue.

BOTTOM LINE The FY2026 NDAA advances progress on pay, family support, health care access, and spouse transition assistance, while underscoring the continued need for advocacy—particularly for retirees and surviving spouses.

Together, informed and engaged MOAA members continue to make a difference for servicemembers, retirees, survivors, and family members. MOAA's continued advocacy reminds Congress that military families and survivors must remain a priority.

Legislative Updates: Surviving Spouse's Bills

Several bills in the 119th Congress aim to improve benefits for surviving spouses. Unfortunately, none were passed this year. In January, we continue with the 119th Congress. These bills remain "active" for one more year. Here are key bills in the 119th Congress that affect surviving spouses,

Caring for Survivors Act of 2025 (H.R. 680 / S. 611) This would increase monthly Dependency & Indemnity Compensation (DIC) and reduce the required disability period from 10 to 5 years. View details [here .

Love Lives On Act of 2025 (H.R. 1004 / S. 410): Ensure surviving spouses retain DoD/VA benefits even if they remarry before age 55. {View details here}

Fairness for Servicemembers and Their Families Act of 2025 (H.R. 970 / S. 385) Requires regular review and inflation adjustment of SGLI and VGLI insurance coverage amounts. View details [here)

Advocacy and Awareness: Space-Available Travel for Surviving Spouses: Authorization Without Implementation! Dr Vivianne Wersel

Most of us have heard the same line for years: "Surviving spouses cannot fly Space-Available (Space-A) Congress has authorized Space-Available (Space-A) travel for surviving spouses through the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), beginning with the FY2020 NDAA and reaffirmed in subsequent legislation. Yet authorization alone is not enough. Without full implementation, the benefit remains unavailable in practice.

Space-A travel has always required flexibility, self-reliance, and acceptance of austere conditions. It is not a guaranteed benefit, nor is it appropriate for everyone. However, many surviving spouses are fully capable of meeting these requirements and should not be categorically excluded based on assumptions about age or mobility. This issue is not about special treatment. It is about equity and consistency. Congress clearly expressed its intent to include surviving spouses, yet the U.S. Air Force's lack of clear guidance and execution has effectively denied access to a benefit already authorized by law.

Concerns often raised—mobility, luggage handling, stair climbing, or long walking distances—are not unique to surviving spouses. These realities of Space-A travel apply to all eligible users and can be addressed through self-certification and waivers, as is common across many military programs. Space-A travel does not fall under ADA accommodations, and participation has always been voluntary and conditional.

A reasonable path forward exists:

- Clear eligibility guidance
- Self-certification of mobility and fitness for travel
- Acknowledgment of Space-A conditions and limitations

Such measures would allow capable surviving spouses to participate while preserving the program's integrity and operational reality. Surviving spouses have long demonstrated resilience, independence, and continued service to the military community. Implementing this already-authorized benefit would align policy with congressional intent and reflect a commitment to fairness and respect for families who have borne the cost of service. Take Action - Contact Congress to support Space-A access for military survivors.

Should You Have a LinkedIn Account? Dr Viviane Wersel

Many of us use Facebook or email to stay connected, but another platform worth considering is LinkedIn. Unlike social media, which is focused on friends and family, LinkedIn is designed for professional connections, volunteering, and advocacy.

Why might it matter for surviving spouses?

- Stay connected with MOAA and others. A simple profile lets you follow MOAA updates, connect with other surviving spouses, and stay up to date with military-related organizations.
- Share your story and advocacy. If you're involved in legislation, volunteering, or raising awareness about surviving spouse issues, LinkedIn provides a way to reach policymakers, leaders, and allies who may not see posts elsewhere.
- Show your ongoing contributions. Many of us continue to teach, mentor, volunteer, or advocate well beyond our careers. LinkedIn helps highlight those efforts.

Do you need to be “tech-savvy”?

Not really. Even a basic profile with your name, military connection, and a short sentence about your interests is enough to get started. You don't have to post regularly unless you want to.

Bottom line:

If you are still active in volunteering, advocacy, or professional work, a LinkedIn account can be a valuable tool. If you prefer to stay private, that's fine too—but know that LinkedIn is there if you'd like to amplify your voice and expand your connections.

<https://www.linkedin.com>

Why LinkedIn is an Option

Staying connected matters, especially as a surviving spouse. Our community thrives on shared experiences, reliable information, and mutual support. LinkedIn offers another way to stay connected with MOAA, fellow surviving spouses, and trusted organizations. It can provide access to timely information, shared experiences, and advocacy efforts that affect our community. Participation is optional, but connection can be meaningful. Engagement is always a personal choice, and no matter where you live, you remain part of this community. I use LinkedIn daily to stay “connected” with legislation, my profession, and friends, old and new. It is an excellent platform for informing others about the legislative inequities affecting surviving spouses. Let's connect!

Recreation Benefits for Military Survivors and their families

IHOOT: A Restorative Travel Resource for Military Surviving Spouses

If you like to vacation but the expense is overwhelming, please connect with iHoot- they include military surviving spouses. Many of our benefits are sometimes hidden....this is a hidden gem!

Military surviving spouses possess a unique kind of strength. In addition to navigating grief, rebuilding routines, and supporting families, many continue to serve their communities long after their loved ones' military service ends. What is often missing, however, is time for rest — and resources that recognize the emotional and financial realities many survivors face.

One organization working to address this gap is In Honor of Our Troops (IHOOT), a national 501(c)(3) nonprofit dedicated to providing restorative travel opportunities for those connected to military service, including surviving spouses.

IHOOT was founded with a simple mission: to support the well-being of military families by providing them with access to peaceful, restorative vacation environments at little to no cost for lodging. Unlike many programs primarily for active-duty military or retirees, IHOOT explicitly includes military surviving spouses in its eligibility criteria.

Vacations for Vets (V4V) is IHOOT's signature program. It connects eligible applicants with donated or discounted resort stays across the country and, in some cases, internationally. These stays typically last up to seven nights and are made available through partnerships with property owners, resort networks, and timeshare organizations.

Contact: mssvc02@gmail.com.

Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter

December 2025 issue

Resort stays offered through the V4V Program may be free or deeply discounted, depending on availability. For surviving spouses — many of whom manage fixed incomes, family responsibilities, and the long-term emotional impact of loss — this access can offer a rare opportunity for respite.

Program overview: <https://ihoot.org/vacations-for-vets>

Resort Directory: <https://ihoot.org/resort-directory>

Discounted Travel Options: <https://ihoot.org/new-travel-options-for-veterans/>

To ensure transparency, note the following considerations: A nonrefundable processing fee (generally $100–$125) is required. Availability varies based on the donated week. Flexibility with dates significantly increases the likelihood of a match. IHoot does not own the properties; it relies on donated resort time. These limitations do not diminish the program's impact; they help applicants make informed decisions.

What makes IHoot unique is its guiding philosophy. Its programs aim to give surviving spouses and military families the chance to reconnect with loved ones, visit grandchildren, heal in peaceful environments, and create new memories after profound loss. For many surviving spouses, these experiences offer a meaningful opportunity for restoration — emotional, physical, and spiritual.

IHoot's work affirms a simple truth: those who bear the cost of service deserve the time and space to heal, reconnect, and breathe. More information: <https://ihoot.org>

Financial:

Cost-of-Living Adjustment (COLA): What Surviving Spouses Should Know

Each year, a Cost-of-Living Adjustment (COLA) may be applied to certain federal survivor benefits to help offset rising costs. For many surviving spouses, this results in a slight increase in monthly payments beginning in January 2026.

COLA may apply if you receive:

- Social Security survivor benefits
- VA Dependency and Indemnity Compensation (DIC)
- Survivor Benefit Plan (SBP) annuity payments

If you are eligible, the increase is automatic—no action is required. The adjustment will appear in your January payment, though the amount will vary depending on the benefit you receive.

Contact: mssvc02@gmail.com.

Surviving Spouse Virtual Chapter

December 2025 issue

Important to know: COLA does not apply to all programs. It does not affect GASP (Gold Star Advocacy Support Program) assistance, grants, or other non-entitlement support programs.

Why this matters: While COLA increases are often modest, they help preserve the long-term value of survivor benefits.
